

Let's plan powerfully, together.

When complexity rises, Marriott Bonvoy Convention & Resort Network is here to help.

In the world of meetings and events, every planner is balancing vision with logistics, creativity with constraints and expectations with outcomes. You need partners who understand that what you're really building isn't just an agenda—it's an experience.

Bringing together 125+ specialized hotels and resorts across 50+ destinations, Marriott Bonvoy Convention & Resort Network is designed specifically for planners who work at scale. This isn't just a collection of venues—it's a coordinated community intentionally built to support programs that span cities, seasons and property types. Programs where consistency, continuity and collaboration are essential to success.

Learn more about Marriott Bonvoy Convention & Resort Network or subscribe to our newsletter.

MARRIOTT BONVOY
CONVENTION & RESORT NETWORK

Experiential event capabilities.

For planners managing multi-hotel or multi-year events, simplicity is not optional—it's mission-critical. That's why the Network offers streamlined multi-hotel sourcing and contracting, giving you a more efficient and coordinated way to book at scale. You work through a single relationship and a unified process, supported by teams who understand your entire program—not just one hotel at a time. This means clearer communication, less back-and-forth, faster decision-making and a cohesive standard across participating properties. From consolidating information to aligning concessions, timelines and expectations across hotels, the Network is purpose-built to ease friction and help you manage volume with confidence.

But logistics alone don't define an unforgettable event. Your attendees remember the moments that spark connection, creativity and emotion. That's where the Network's experiential event capabilities elevate what's possible. Member properties offer a curated collection of high-impact culinary experiences, immersive destination programming, wellness activations, creative off-agenda

Scale, space and creative infrastructure.

Whether you're producing an executive think-tank retreat, a brand-defining incentive or a multi-thousand-person conference with layered breakouts and production needs, the Network gives you access to properties with the scale, space and creative infrastructure to execute your vision. Many venues provide flexible meeting footprints, outdoor and nontraditional environments, high-capacity production support and teams experienced in building immersive environments. If you're looking to extend beyond ballroom walls, incorporate storytelling elements or build interactive activations, these properties are equipped to push beyond standard meeting formats.

Behind the scenes, the Network functions as an extension of your planning team. Cross-property teams coordinate program details, anticipate needs across destinations and support you with a level of continuity that reduces the learning curve from event to event. Whether your program moves from one coast to another or repeats annually in a new destination, you don't have to start from scratch. The Network's structure ensures consistent standards, shared expertise and a unified approach designed to protect your time and elevate your outcomes. The multi-hotel offer was built exactly for this reason: to help planners scale seamlessly, minimize friction and keep the planning process moving at the pace your organization demands.

Creativity is essential.

While coordination is foundational, creativity is essential. The Network empowers planners to craft experiences that resonate emotionally and operationally—experiences shaped by thoughtful design, local culture and collective innovation across participating hotels. These are not just meetings—they're moments with lasting impact, created through partnership, flexibility and a shared commitment to delivering excellence.

Your work requires precision, vision and partners who understand the stakes. With Marriott Bonvoy Convention & Resort Network, you gain the reach, reliability and creative strength to build programs that perform and experiences that inspire.

moments and locally driven add-ons that feel authentic rather than pre-packaged. These options are supported by a signature event playbook and customizable frameworks that help you refine—not replace—your vision. Whatever the experience you're designing, the Network provides access to resources that make it feel intentional, place-driven and exclusive to your event.