

Presidential Ponderings

I love new beginnings and I even appreciate New Year's resolutions with their promise. News Year's Resolution Statistics by Statistic Brain Research Institute show that ~41% of Americans usually make resolutions and not surprisingly the top resolution is for losing weight/healthier eating. Of course, we know that by February about 80% of us have failed in our efforts. However, the same statistics show that "people, who explicitly make resolutions are 10 times more likely to attain their goals than people who don't explicitly make resolutions". After all resolutions are a great way to make a positive change in our lives.
