PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

by Lisa A. South, CMP

To quote John Ruskin, "When we build, let us think that we build forever. Let it not be for present delight nor for present use alone. Let it be such work as our descendants will thank us for, and let us think as we lay stone on stone that a time is to come when these stones will be held sacred because hands have touched the, and that men will say as they look upon the labor and the wrought substance of them, 'See, this our fathers did for us.'"

This is a fine example of the importance of planning for the future, as well as the need for TEAMWORK. The theme of this month's chapter meeting is Teamwork, and I think it is very timely, given this year's theme "Back to the Basics: Building Blocks of Success." In every organization, there is a need to work together, and this becomes even more important for a volunteer organization (especially a non-profit one!). We all have the charge to work together in an environment where there is limited time and money to accomplish lofty goals each year.

Working together means communication, understanding and "give and take"

for all Dallas/Fort Worth Chapter members. Since MPI's primary goal is education, let's all take time to re-educate ourselves on how to be team players. Asking questions when you don't understand, offering suggestions because you might have a better way, getting involved to enhance the chapter are all simple ways of building a team effort.

Team Building at Reunion Ranch

by Alex Vurpillat

C'mon and join us at Reunion Ranch on October 24 and learn what distinguishes a "great" corporation from a "good" corporation!

"Team Building" is one of the hottest concepts to hit major companies in the metroplex. Management realizes that it is no longer "one" person in the company who is responsible for its overall success but the entire team of employees who makes the company a winner or a loser in the game of success!

How can your company benefit from a

This team effort takes the involvement of ALL members, however. Please remember that our Board meetings are open to the membership (please let me know if you wish to attend, however, so we can plan for the number of attendees). ## Love For Kids Christmas Card Update

by Anita O. Siegers

Thank you to all the D/FW Chapter members who participated in the Love for Kids party at the West Dallas Community Center on September 26, 1991. Hopefully you enjoyed meeting 13-year-old Delbert Rogers, the young man responsible for this year's Christmas card design.

Please remember, we have a goal of selling 25,000 cards in 1991! That translates to only four packages of cards sold or bought by every MPI member. Please help by making suggestions of any corporate sales to Pat McCain at (214) 458-8692.

Making Meetings Barrier Free

by Bruce Jaster

For hotels and public facilities that want to know how they rate in terms of access for the disabled, the North Texas Amputee Support Group (NTASG) offers a low cost opinion-based consultation. Two members of the support group with different levels of disability from wheelchair-bound to almost fully mobile will spend up to a full day with you evaluating your property's ease of access. At the end of their visit, they will offer their opinions concerning your property and their suggestions for improvement.

The NTASG members are knowledgeable concerning the Americans with Disabilities Act, but they are not bonafide legal experts. They offer their first-hand opinions based only on their experience in your facility.

In return for the consultation, they ask that you make a donation of $250 to the North Texas Amputee Support Group and pay for any meals or overnight housing that you might offer them during their visit with you. For more information or to make arrangements, call (214) 289-5775 and leave a message or ask for Jimmy Jones.

October Host Facility

Reunion Ranch is an exclusive picnic and meeting facility for large groups, company outings, conventions and parties. At Reunion Ranch, you have the exclusive use of 85 developed acres surrounded by 1,200+ wooded country acres. Their new heated and air conditioned conference center has 9,500 square feet under one roof. It's designed to provide an ambiance that showcases the Reunion Ranch brand of western hospitality.

The environment at Reunion Ranch is geared to recognize your associates as individuals and to demonstrate your awareness of their accomplishments. This unique form of recognition is one of the most important factors in promoting high morale and productivity. To achieve these results, they offer a wide variety of recreational facilities, organized activities and entertainment, including barbecue dinners, horseback riding, paddleboating, horse-drawn stage coach and hay wagon, Superstars competition, swimming pool, softball, mini-golf on sawdust, volleyball, an obstacle course, adult couples games and a petting zoo.

The client is also able to draw on the ranch's policy of only scheduling one group on any one day, thus enabling them to provide guests with undivided attention.

These unique attributes, as well as many others, are the reason Reunion Ranch has earned the reputation for hosting the "ultimate event."

A Note

You may have noticed that the chapter has instituted a new procedure that was utilized at the September meeting, which we plan to continue at future meetings. At monthly meeting registration, you will be given a voucher which is to be redeemed by the waitstaff upon serving your meal. This new voucher was designed to ensure prompt service and easy calculation of the actual attendance numbers. This voucher process will be used at all Dallas/Fort Worth Chapter functions involving meal service.

A New Face Behind the Camera

by Holly Adams

In case you didn't notice at last month's meeting, there is a new face behind the camera that takes the pictures for our newsletter. Mark Lazarow of Mark Lazarow's Photography, recently accepted the position of D/FW MPI Chapter Photographer. The success story behind Mark Lazarow is both exciting and interesting.

Six years ago, Mark left his native country of South Africa bound for the United States. Upon his arrival, he entered the jewelry business, while continuing his long-time hobby of photography. By day he was a computer systems manager for a local jewelry company. But by night and on weekends, he was an ace photographer at weddings, bar/bat mitzvahs and corporate functions.

The word about Mark's excellent work as a photographer spread rapidly. It was only eight months ago that Mark decided to resign from the jewelry business and open his own studio and lab, making photography his livelihood.

Mark is very excited to be working with the D/FW MPI Chapter. At the October meeting, or whenever you see Mark, our new face behind the camera, welcome him to our chapter; then smile and say "Cheese!"

Editorial Note:

All Good Things Must Come to an End

And so it also is with volunteer work. After a long term of service to MPI, Bill Sloan of Sloan Photography recently resigned as MPI D/FW Chapter Photographer. Bill has labored long and hard to provide our publications with professional photography and has performed superbly and consistently. Although he is still a member of the D/FW Chapter of MPI, Bill's contributions to this publication will be missed.

The staff of the CURRENT, together with the Chapter's Board of Directors, wishes to thank Bill for his contributions to the Chapter and wish him success as his business continues to grow.

THE CURRENT ISSUE OCTOBER, 1991 THE MEMBERSHIP SPEAKS OUT

by Sue Ferguson

Have you ever gone on a site inspection or fam trip, never intending to use that facility or service? Have you ever been "wined and dined," knowing that your host will never have the opportunity to sell you or your company on their product, property or service?

It is the industry standard that the product be tried and true before the association, corporation or social group be subjected to it. It is, however, a fact that many individuals view this as a "benefit" of their employment.

How do you stand? As a supplier, do you feel that you have been on the receiving end of such treatment? As a planner, do you feel that you should bypass an invitation if you are sure that you will never have the opportunity to use the vendor's services? You be the judge. The CURRENT Issue is: Complimentary Services - Are they always necessary? Where exactly does the "give" become a "take"?

MARTY RIZZO
American Heart Association

"When I worked in the "for profit" world, I never knew when I might use a property. . . I needed to keep abreast of locations, services, and venues through familiarization. It was important that I knew the industry and what it had to offer. . . In the "non-profit" world, we would only—and probably should only—go on trips where we intend to use the location or venue. Funds are scrutinized and I think carefully about a trip or site inspection now. Basically, in the "for profit" arena, those issues are not as important. When I was a supplier, I sometimes felt that suppliers were called upon to give bids and proposals when a client clearly intended to go elsewhere, and I don't think that's ethical. I think that it is still important to keep up with destinations and what they have to offer."

SALLY GIBBONS
Loews Anatole Hotel

"As a (hotel) supplier, yes, we have been taken advantage of; however, at our hotel, it's becoming less common than before because of the expense. When we do a fam trip or 'out of the ordinary' inspection, we evaluate the invitation and check the availability of rooms and meeting space before the client arrives. If we have been "boon dogged," we would happily charge the customer or charge the master account without hesitation. I don't think it is happening as much because of organizations such as MPI who are looking at ethics."

MARILYN MCGUIRE
Texas Credit Union Association

"It is in the professional interest of the planner to keep in perspective legitimate potential for what it is. If not, credibility is hurt."

PEG WOLSCHON
Gray Line Worldwide

"... I always go on site inspections with a sincere interest to learn more about a location, property or restaurant for planned or future programs. It would be a waste of my time and expense, as well as that of the host, to view a property for no other specific reason than to be entertained. I have too much respect for others, and, because I am in a similar position of sales most the time, I am extremely sensitive to this issue. . . As a supplier, I truly hope the buyers "taste with the intent to buy," but I am sure there have been some complimentary services provided to people who have no serious intent to purchase our products. I believe the majority of planners are truly professional, and these people realistically review the opportunities available to fulfill their meeting criteria, and do not abuse the "benefits" of their position."

Congratulations to Sarah Richards, who had a baby boy, Scott Allen, on July 30. She returned to work at Convex last month.

Dorrit Turner received some recent exposure for the meetings industry by discussing it on KRLD last month. And Colleen Albert accomplished that goal when she addressed the Crescent Court Breakfast Series in September. Good work, ladies!

Best wishes for a speedy recovery go out to Patty Palacios (a new member from the Stouffer Dallas), who was hospitalized for emergency surgery last month. She will be out of work until later this month.

Congratulations to Susan Keller (a new member from Gleneagles Country Club) on her recent engagement. The wedding is set for April of 1992.

Vicki Knight (of Radio Shack) and her new husband, Allan Kempe, were the first couple to be married in the new Grand Hyatt Wailea wedding chapel in Maui on September 5. On hand to attend the ceremony and reception were the owner of the hotel and the general manager. About 75 hotel employees waited outside to throw orchids as the couple left the chapel.

Please let me know immediately when you hear about something that belongs in "Heard it Through the Grapevine." Call me at 276-2998 or fax me at 276-9725. I'm looking for personal items, job changes, promotions or anything of interest to the members.

Keep Informed, Get Oriented

by Stan Heller

In our never-ending efforts to make sure that you make the most of your MPI membership, we are changing the format of what has always been the "New Member Orientation." It will now be called "Member Orientation." In addition to introducing new members to our chapter, its role and goals, we will bring everyone up to date on the new products and services available through MPI as an international organization.

If you will attend and look through the content of the New Member kit, you will be surprised at all that is available.

Spread the Good Word to Potential Members

by Anita O. Siegers

In the meeting and event business in which we all are participants, manpower and membership are fundamental to success. The same is true for our local MPI Chapter.

Thanks to our Vice President of Membership, Stan Heller, for his time and dedication at the recent Fort Worth Showcase '91. Because of this contact, over 275 attendees from Fort Worth and Dallas will be acquainted with MPI and the D/FW Chapter. What a giant step in exposure and potential new members!

We Can't Go On Meeting Like This.

If you're responsible for planning your company's most important meetings, we ought to get to know each other. Creating unique, memorable and effective sales meetings, business presentations, dealer events and new product introductions is our only business. And nobody does it better.

We've produced meetings for corporate America's best and brightest: clients like Texaco, Dr Pepper/Seven-Up, Wal-Mart, IBM and Texas Instruments. In the process, we've learned exactly what it takes to create an event that generates enthusiasm and most importantly, the desired results. Before you make any final decisions about your next major meeting, talk to us first. It's our business to make you look good.

A Resource Worth Exploring

by Tim Wade

The September MPI D/FW Chapter Meeting was certainly worth attending as MPI got a chance to showcase itself to its members. Trade show booths of each D/FW MPI committee and MPI International were set up in a reception area of the Southland Center Hotel prior to our meeting on Thursday, September 26. While members visited each of the booths trying to get signatures on their passports (used later in a prize drawing won by Myra Berry), they had the opportunity to learn about the many different committees. It was also a chance for many committee members to get creative. The "most creative booth" award would have been picked up by the Programming Committee and Steve Kimble for dressing up in a gorilla head and promoting "We're Wild About You and MPI!" A close runner-up, however, would have to be the Education Committee members, who donned graduation caps to illustrate their emphasis on higher learning.

International's MPI Store was open, giving out plenty of information on the organization and "Love for Kids" had a wonderful kick-off. There was a tremendous amount of interest in this program, and we look forward to it doing well in the next few months.

After everyone got a chance to visit the various booths, members were ushered into the hotel's ballroom for an excellent meal. Our speaker was Peter Turner, Senior Vice President of MPI, who discussed MPI's role on the international level. Peter is a recent resident of Dallas and thoughtfully brought along his finance (although he did mention they hadn't set a date due to a conflicting convention schedule—it's true!).

The program was enlightening to all members as Peter informed us why we need an international membership and organization. The world is getting smaller, and we must be able to do business and compete with foreign competitors. He also mentioned numerous benefits to us as members of a truly international organization. Peter outlined the goals for MPI's international growth and how members can get involved in the international business. There is no better advice than Mr. Turner's: "Get to know tomorrow's customers today."

Kudos should be directed to the excellent staff of the Southland Center Hotel for the great meal and wonderful table decorations. In fact, there are several people and businesses which deserve our thanks: Freeman Decoration and David Gisler for signage, a big thanks to MPI International and LaTrelle Smart for all their assistance (including donating the door prize), Rick Jones for a "thank you" sign and Balloons Fantastic for decorations. And we wouldn't want to forget our wonderful chairpersons for this meeting: Sue Ferguson, Alexandra Vurpillat and Gail Koch-Lemaire. All this and more contributed to the success of our meeting in September!

Crash "Course" at the Veranda

by Tim Wade

The D/FW Chapter will offer a 1 1/2 day Certified Meeting Professional (CMP) study course for those members and non-members who plan to take the CMP examination on November 9. It's a great opportunity for CMP candidates to learn from other CMPs and regional experts in all fields of meeting planning.

The date of this CMP Crash Course is November 1-2, 1991, at the Veranda Club (behind Loews Anatole Hotel). The schedule is from 1 - 5 p.m. on Friday, November 1, and Saturday, November 2, from 8:30 a.m. - 4 p.m. One 15-minute break is scheduled on Friday and two 15-minute breaks on Saturday, along with an hour for lunch (price of lunch is not included).

Registration for this workshop is $25 for D/FW Chapter members, $50 for other MPI members and $100 for non-MPI members. Deadline for registration is October 25.

Meeting Planning "Course Shorts"

Just a few notes from Richland College to pass along to MPI members:

Jimmy Eanes, CMP is excited about the great response to classes on meeting planning. Twenty-seven are enrolled in Basic Meeting Planning and 18 in the advanced course.

Also, please note the Job Fair at Richland College scheduled for October 12 has been changed to October 11.

Finally, maybe you noticed the abbreviation after Jimmy's name . . . CONGRATULATIONS, JIMMY, ON PASSING YOUR CMP!

Two Plus Two Equals "Fore for Breakfast"

by Tim Wade

Picture this: you've been asked to organize a golf tournament for the first time, and you don't even play the game. Well, MPI's "How To" Breakfast in November is just the ticket for you. Join MPI for breakfast at the Hyatt Regency DFW Airport, East Tower, Comet Room, for a presentation by Larry Box, PGA Head Golf Professional at Hyatt Bear Creek. This presentation is scheduled for 7 a.m. on Tuesday, November 5.

This is a great opportunity to learn from a pro how to plan and execute a golf tournament. For those with time available after the breakfast, a golf tournament planned by the "class" will be conducted by Bear Creek. Cost for the tournament will be $36 per person and will begin at 9:15 a.m. A minimum of eight players must be reached for the tournament to operate.

To register, check the insert located in this month's newsletter.
