Alanna Klomp, CMP, has been with the West Michigan Whitecaps, a minor league affiliate of the Detroit Tigers, for 19 years. She has held numerous positions with the baseball club and is currently the Corporate Event Sales Manager. Her primary responsibilities include selling the more than 100 non-baseball events, such as company picnics, meetings, trade shows, training seminars, holiday parties and weddings, that occur at the ballpark. When she is not selling events at the ballpark she is planning events off-site for both the West Michigan Whitecaps and the Whitecaps Community Foundation. Events include the Foundation's annual Fundraising Banquet and Golf Outing as well as the 2014 Midwest League All-Star Game Reception and various private parties.

Question: What is your #1 tip for other meeting planners?

Answer: In an age where technology can overpower how we communicate with vendors, suppliers, partners and co-workers, it is important to make time for face-to-face, telephonic or personal conversations. Building and maintaining strong relationships takes time and effort, even though email is sometimes the quick answer and time-saver.

spare time she volunteers at her kids' school, Frontline Community Church co-leading a leadership class and for Kids Food Basket. Her hobbies include photography, baking, knitting and exercising.

Conversations with Members

We spoke to MPI MI member Lindsey Brown for her feedback on the Women in Leadership Course held in April: "The Women in Leadership Course was a unique approach to discussing the topic of developing women leaders in the workplace. The speaker was extremely engaging and took an interactive approach to the course, which makes the Michigan MPI educational offerings different from others. I loved how involved the attendees were and how everyone discovered their leadership traits, answered live survey questions, discussed case studies and openly talked about debatable topics in a friendly and respectful way. I feel like the knowledge I gained will be very beneficial to my career!"
