REBECCA MARTIN DEAR JANE INC.

Rebecca Martin, founder of California based dear jane..., a career advisement company..., believes that people can succeed in landing the "perfect" job if they can first identify what is right for them.

As a corporate recruiter in Silicon Valley in the '90s, Rebecca saw firsthand the personal and professional disorientation of thousands of workers displaced when the tech bubble burst. From this unique vantage point, Rebecca analyzed corporate clients' hiring processes; job applicants' resume-writing abilities and interviewing skills; and hiring managers' practices and procedures.

By 2002, Rebecca had identified a pivotal factor in the success — or failure — of an individual in his or her chosen career: the ability to articulate a personal vision.

In 2004 Rebecca launched dear jane... with a proprietary career advisement program that includes career assessment, resume writing, interviewing methodologies, and compensation and other negotiations and much more.

Today, dear jane... develops and delivers career management training classes, workshops, seminars, and coaching to Fortune 1000 companies as well as individuals throughout the United States. Since its inception, dear jane... has enjoyed a 98% success rate in coaching clients through career transitions, successful interviewing, salary negotiations, and the like.

Rebecca's speaking engagements take her to college career centers, job search work groups, professional association meetings, job fairs, Employment Development Department offices, and One-Stop Career Centers. She is an official Trainer for the US Government Employment Development Department (EDD).

A USC graduate with a B.S. in Business Administration, Rebecca has written and published the booklet "83 Tips on How to Successfully Work with Corporate and External Recruiters." She belongs to the Women's National Book Association. She has recently appeared as a Career Consultant to the View from the Bay San Francisco's ABC afternoon show.

Rebecca, a featured speaker at MPINCC and PCMA chapter meetings, has experience working with suppliers and meeting professionals and is featured in the December 2010 issue of Perspective magazine. She has also provided business and career coaching to members which has resulted in successful and favorable results. You won't want to miss her workshop!
